4. March Madness Planning (35 minutes)
  - a. Option 1: Watch Party
    - i. Likely location: Jadwin
    - ii. Could provide similar to the bonfire - around $10000
  - b. Option 2: Sending students to Louisville
    - i. Cost for travel: $20000 for each event (Men and Women)
    - ii. 50 students offered ticket/travel through lottery
  - c. Discussion
    - d. Stephen: I think we should have a watch party and am fairly committed to organizing this
    - e. Genevieve: I agree. If we send students to the game, we'd also need to have an on campus.
    - f. Stephen: If we want to send students, are we comfortable with potentially spending $40000?
    - g. Avi: What else could it go to?

- h. Stephen: It is our cushion. We have not allocated money to Tigers in Town and there are always other events down the line.
- i. Afzal: I agree. I don't think 50 people and $20000 dollars match. I think I should spend more money on campus where we can serve more students.
- j. Aishwarya: I agree with Avi and others. I think creating a really cool, decked out watch party type event would be super fun for a larger portion of students
- k. Daniel: I agree
- l. Quin: Even if we have trouble getting Jadwin, we could look at multiple spaces across campus
- m. Cait: I don't think it is the best use of money to send students there. If tickets have already been bought then we could give those away and have students organize their own transportation.
- n. Stephen: They will still distribute tickets for about $150 each. Would we still want to subsidize tickets or just do the watch party? It seems like we are leaning towards doing the watch party. Which locations would work best?
- o. Daniel: I think that if we can find one location to do a general watch party that would concentrate the energy. Frist could work; the MPR has large screens.
- p. Dean Deas: Frist could work. We can audit EMS quickly and use MPR, the TV lounge, and other classrooms. What do you think about using McCosh or other large spaces?
- q. Amanda: I think if we could find a space big enough to hold everyone, one space would be nice, like the Frist MPR or Jadwin or maybe even Dillion Main Gym Floor, but if the space isn't big enough, we might need multiple spaces within one building
- r. Daniel: I feel that it would be difficult to move around and have conversations in a lecture room, so that might not be ideal.
- s. Madi: People who are hard core sports fans will go to wherever we put the event, but if we want the most people who will just casually watch, we should have it in Frist
- t. Avi: I don't see Jadwin as being that far. People already have a central location if they watch individually, which would be their own rooms or the rooms of friends. I don't think we should shoot for a couple hundred people in attendance, I think we could reach thousands. If we get Jadwin then we will have the most impact

- u. Stephen: Our straw poll looks like we will use Jadwin. What stuff do we want for the event?
- v. Quin: Some kind of beads or face paint that we can have there, and we should ask people to go all out
- w. Stephen: Thoughts on face paint?
- x. Quin: We could have fast options, not necessarily professionals
- y. Dean Dunne: We could do temporary tattoos and PSEC has brought in an artist before. Temporary tattoos could just be a quick ship in.
- z. Stephen: Thoughts on giveaways? They are already doing the limited edition shirts at the U Store, we could do a giveaway for that. There are lots of other expenses we need to think of as well.
- aa. Dean Deas: The Nomad truck operates seasonally. I didn't see the selection show. I attended the watch party last year, it was mostly pizza from a different vendor. We could get a catering order and target someone with experience who could do setup and cleanup
- bb. Daniel: Nomad requests a guest count 7 days in advance for the trucks, according to their website
- cc. Stephen: For the selection show it was Papa Johns and hotdogs, we'd need to pay more attention to dietary restrictions. We could do that with vegan/vegetarian options.
- dd. Dean Dunne: There is a large capacity. Would this be just for students, or other groups. Could we open it to the community?
- ee. Stephen: If we open it, we'd have to see their interest in funding it.
- ff. Quin: One small thing for publicity later - can we reach out to all of the residential colleges and have them send out the flyer/poster on their ways of communication? Just to get it beyond the scope of the people that usually engage with USG communication
